EXTRA SESSION FORMALLY ENDS

Both Houses of Congress Begin Regular Meeting.

WILSON'S MESSAGE TUESDAY

Much Interest Is Shown in the Coming Annual Address of the President, Although It Is Believed He Will Confine Himself to Only a Few Subjects, Leaving Others for Special Messages Later On.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Confronted by an ambitious and comprehensive legislative program the Sixty-third congress convened at noon to take up the work of its first regular session. The special session, called for tariff and currency consideration, ended.

In view of President Wilson's work during the special session the regular session is certain to command general public attention. The manner in which the legislative task is handled will determine, to a large degree, the future of the Democratic party and will have a direct bearing upon the off year campaign of 1914.

Constructively, there is no statutory connection between the special session, just ended, and the regular session, just beginning. The separation between them is more of a fiction than anything else; indeed, it is so much of a one that no mileage allowances will be made to members on account of the regular session.

Inherits Unfinished Business.

The regular session inherits all the unfinished business of the special session, including the unfinished currency bill, which the senate is now debating, and which the party leaders hope to place upon the statute books perhaps before the end of December if the new senate plan of day and night sessions should produce the desired result.

The house will be busy during December with committee hearings and arranging a session program. Some of the committees will proceed at once to the consideration of important bills, among which will perhaps be one or two of the big appropriation bills. It is expected that these bills will be ready to bring before the house prior to the holiday recess. Much interest is being taken in the annual address of the president to congress, the first Mr. Wilson will have made. His utterances, will, to a great degree, shape the work of the session, and his treatment of public questions thus becomes important. The degree of emphasis placed by him upon certain subjects will suggest the degree of emphasis to be placed upon them by the lawmaking body.

Message Will Be Brief.

About all that is known about the message in advance of its delivery is that it is to be very much briefer than annual messages usually have been in the past and that it is the purpose of the president, as was the case during the last administration, to send to congress, from time to time as the occasion may require, special messages dealing with particular subjects.

It is understood that the president will not press his trust program until after he can see the successful finish of the currency debate in the senate. Then the trust question will come up and be pushed as speedily as possible in both houses. There will be time for this, provided currency can be got out of the way with reasonable promptness.

In addition to currency, Mexico and the trusts, the president is known to be interested in legislation for Alaska, in the Philippines, rural credits, codification of the banking laws, farm extension work and vocational education, revision of the patent laws, workingmen's compensations, the navy, the Panama canal, etc. It is not known, however, how many of these he will mention in his annual message. Later, as these several questions come to the front, it is expected that the president will give them, or most of them, detailed statement in special messages.

Senate Swamped With Work.

The senate begins the regular session with its hands filled with work. It will not, as customary, mark time until after the holiday recess, but will be busy debating currency, the Hetch-Hetchy reservoir proposition and the Alaskan railroad bill.

The house will be busy throughout the session preparing, debating and passing the eleven annual supply bills, providing for the expenses of conducting the government. The total of those bills probably will be slightly more than a billion dollars.

The regular session will run well into the summer and adjournment will depend upon situations which cannot now be foreseen. Of course, the members of both houses will be anxious to get away in July or early August, if possible, for all house members and a third of the senate members will have campaigns at home needing their personal attention.

The special session of the present year was notable for the enactment of the first Democratic tariff law since 1894.

Besides the tariff the special session enacted two appropriation bills modifying provisions of more than ordinary interest. The sundry civil appropriation bill contained provisions for the abolishment of the commerce court and for the exemption from trust prosecutions of labor unions and organizations of farmers. The urgent deficiency bill modified in certain respects the rigidity of the civil service regulations.

MARSHALL AT WASHINGTON

Vice President Feels Refreshed After His Vacation.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Refreshed by a vacation in Arizona, Vice President Marshall returned to Washington ready for the grind of the opening weeks of the new session of congress. "Bankers I know and on whose opinions I rely want corrective currency legislation as soon as possible," said Mr. Marshall.

"They believe no time should be lost in passage of legislation that will give the people greater confidence in their banking system and that will open the way for the average man to have equal opportunity with every other man in the use of capital and credit."

CONTAINS BANK GUARANTY PLAN

Senate Democrats Agree on Currency Measure.

SETTLE DISPUTED DETAILS

As Finally Approved the Bill Is Very Little Different From the Draft Presented to the Senate by Chairman Owen—Belief Prevails the Measure Will Be Satisfactory to President Wilson.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Determined to have the administration currency bill ready for consideration by the senate as a Democratic party measure when the new session of congress opened the senate conference of Democrats worked far into the night and settled the disputed details of the bill.

As finally agreed upon the measure was but little different from the draft presented to the senate by Chairman Owen and the five other administration Democrats of the banking and currency committee.

The conference decided, however, that if disputed points of importance become apparent in the course of debate on the floor each difference among Democrats, as it arises, will be known in the conference, the party disagreements straightened out and the majority united to act on the floor.

The administration members of the banking and currency committee reported to the conference on practically all of the disputed propositions in the bill.

The conference adopted the recommendation of a plan to guarantee the deposits of banks which enter the new system.

The conference also adopted the suggestion of the committee that the federal reserve board, which will control the new system, should consist of the secretary of the treasury and six members to be appointed by the president.

The conference measure, it is practically certain, will be acceptable to President Wilson.

SHIP BUFFALOES TO WEST

Seven Sent From New York to Wind Cave Reserve.

New York, Dec. 1.—To repopulate the West as much as possible with the great animals that once abounded there by the thousands fourteen American bison were shipped from Bronx park here, where they were born, to Hot Springs, S. D., where they will be turned out on the Wind Cave national park.

These animals, seven of each sex, represent five different strains.

SEVEN KILLED IN AN ITALIAN WRECK.

Rome, Dec. 1.—The evening express bound from Rome for Naples ran into a locomotive at Cecano and seven passengers were killed and twenty-five injured. Several senators and deputies were on board the express, but none was hurt.

"TRUST BUSTER" TO RESIGN

Joseph Darling Will Quit Department of Justice.

New York, Dec. 1.—To enter commercial life in this city Joseph R. Darling has resigned as special agent of the department of justice at Washington to become effective about Jan. 1 next, it was announced here.

Mr. Darling has charge of the preparation of cases brought by the government against the "bathtub" harvester, moving picture, Pacific coast plumbers and other so called trusts.

MONEY FOR TOYS NOW DUE

Fathers Must Dig Up $20,000,000 in Next Few Weeks.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Toys to the extent of more than $20,000,000 will have been provided for American children by their doting parents before the present year wanes, according to the experts of the bureau of domestic and foreign commerce. This establishes a record. A marked feature is that the United States is guarding with increasing jealousy its own production of toys and is sending fewer abroad for the children of other countries. The importation of playthings before the new year is ushered in will aggregate $9,000,000, the experts say.

POSSE WILL TRY TO ASPHYXIATE OUTLAW

Slayer of Six Men Is Hiding in Utah Mine.

Bingham, Utah, Dec. 1.—While Ralph Lopez, slayer of six men, was attempting to batter down a bulkhead at the entrance of the tunnel in the Utah-Apex mine a posse penetrated an incline and brought out the bodies of Deputy Sheriffs Douglas Halsey and Tom Mandrich, the victims of the desperado in a subterranean gun fight Saturday.

A development was the report that Mike Cranovetch, who shot and seriously wounded his wife several days ago, also is a fugitive in the mine and is co-operating with Lopez.

Deputies on guard at the mouth of the mine opened fire with rifles when Lopez began breaking down the bulkhead and he retreated after prying away one board.

That he is suffering from hunger is the belief of the officers, as he has been in the mine with only a small supply of food since Thursday.

Outwitted repeatedly since Lopez began his career of bloodshed Nov. 21 the pursuing sheriffs of seven counties, in council, decided to batter up the mine and attempt to asphyxiate the fugitive with poisonous gas.

HIGH STATE OF EFFICIENCY

Secretary Daniels Reports on Condition of Nav.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Immediate acquisition and operation of oil wells to furnish fuel for the navy, an international conference to secure a reduction of naval construction, the addition of two dreadnaughts, eight destroyers and three submarines for the navy during the coming year, government manufacture of armor, more naval chaplains and religious leaders, better educational facilities for enlisted men and a graduated retirement law are chief recommendations in the first annual report of Secretary Daniels, made public.

The secretary says the navy was never in such a high state of efficiency as today and that in considering its future needs he has given less thought to the guns than to the men behind the guns.

Bodyguard of Lincoln Dead.

Gettysburg, Pa., Dec. 1.—Isaac W. Bucher, who acted as one of President Lincoln's bodyguards when the latter delivered his famous address here fifty years ago, is dead. Bucher enlisted in the Twenty-first Pennsylvania cavalry as a private and was mustered out as a captain three years later.

STATE CUTS LIGHT RATES

Montana Board Orders Company to Reduce Charge a Third.

Helena, Mont., Dec. 1.—By order of the state public utility commission the Montana Power company, virtually in control of electric power development in Montana, is ordered to give immediately a reduction of 33 per cent in lighting rates in all towns served by the company, including Butte, Great Falls, Livingston, Bozeman, Lewiston and twenty-six others.

BIG DEMAND FOR APPROPRIATIONS

Democrats to Find Economy Program a Difficult One.

ARMY AND NAVY WANT MORE

Mileage For Members of Congress Good Pin Money at Yuletide Season—Bryan Smiles Over Financial Situation the World Over, as Former Foes Admit That Maybe He Was Right.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Dec. 1.—[Special.]—How the economists will have to worry and struggle during the coming session when the appropriations are made! The demands for more money are greater than ever before, and the Democrats were elected on a platform pledged to economy. More than that, the Democrats in congress have been everlastingly hammering their opponents for a dozen years about their extravagance.

Now when the party of economy comes into power there seems to be no way of curbing the desire for spending the money in the treasury. "It is awful to get into power on a platform of economy," remarked one of the Democratic senators, "for when the time comes we can't make good on our promises."

$10,000,000 Increase For the Army.

Right off the reel there is an increase in the estimates of $10,000,000 for the army, and yet the secretary of war is not getting all he wants. Even with that he has pruned the estimates. Along comes Secretary Daniels with estimates for more money for the navy, coupled with a demand in congress for more battleships.

Passing to the side of peace, we notice that many men propose to spend millions for improving the roads of the country. A vocational educational bill or a measure to teach agriculture on a greatly enlarged scale seems certain to pass. There will be no letup in demand for public buildings and for river and harbor appropriations. In fact, all those measures which mean large expenditures seem certain to be passed. These will swell the general total above anything in the past.

Must Make Bryan Smile.

It must make Bryan smile when he sees papers which strenuously supported the gold standard and denounced the Nebraska candidate and his party on the free silver question, now saying that perhaps bimetalism is just what is necessary if the whole world would adopt it. Scarcity of basic money is said to be the cause of the financial difficulties the world over.

Bryan's smile might be broader if he had not tacitly consented to nailing down the gold standard by direct provision in the currency bill which passed the house and is now in the senate. But this talk of restoring silver to its place as a money metal is really interesting at this time when financial stress hovers over the world.

Good Pocket Money.

With Christmas only a short distance away that mileage for members of congress looks like good pocket money. Heretofore when members came to Washington for the first regular session of congress they had been at home for nine months enjoying themselves and spending as little money as possible. They had been drawing salaries all the time, just as if they had been in Washington. They came here in December and right off the bat their mileage was available, 20 cents a mile for the entire distance from their homes to the capital. It made good pin money with Christmas looking them in the face.

"Constitutional Privilege."

The newspaper men many times asked the president if congress was to adjourn, taking it for granted that the president controlled congress as to its vacations. One day he was asked if there would be a holiday adjournment after the regular session. "I suppose it would be unconstitutional not to have a holiday recess," replied the president, showing that he knew the custom, even if he was a little sarcastic in his reply. That will be the first congressional vacation.

Stone Was Sarcastic.

Senator Stone doesn't care much whom he jabs when he is nettled. The other day he referred to Senator Owen as the "nominal chairman" of the banking and currency committee. Then he called Senator Hitchcock "chairman of one wing of the committee." In a few lines he "got to" both Owen and Hitchcock. Stone, who is well up on the finance committee, no doubt thinks it would have been just as well to have allowed the money bills to remain with the finance committee, where they have always been, until the beginning of the present session.

A Strange Sight.

Senator Thomas of Colorado was reading his speech in the senate a few days ago, which caused surprise, as he is a ready talker.

"What ails Charlie Thomas?" asked one senator. "He is reading his speech." "He was afraid to speak offhand," was the reply, "as he feared he would not get through in time to close the session of congress. Thomas is apt to run overtime in his remarks."

Asphalt.

The origin of the material taken from the various asphalt lakes is still a mystery.

LAWS IN EFFECT ON JAN. 1

Many New Minnesota Statutes Will Become Operative.

St. Paul, Dec. 1.—More than a dozen laws passed by the last legislature will go into effect New Year's day. Two of the most important measures are the Cashman distance tariff law and the tax classification law.

The tax classification law probably will affect a greater number of people directly than any other law passed at the last session. Although made effective Jan. 1 its practical working will not begin until the assessments are made next spring and its effect will not be felt until people begin paying their 1915 taxes a year from next January.

The new law taking effect on Jan. 1, 1914, are:

Cashman distance tariff law; locomotive headlight bill; uniform warehouse receipts law; joint freight rate law; fixing salary of Minneapolis mayor; sleeping car tax; tax classification act; regulation of mattresses; fixing salaries of Minneapolis aldermen; Bendixen 2-cent fare law; fixing salaries of town officers.

TEAMSTERS STRIKE AT INDIANAPOLIS

About Two Thousand Drivers and Chauffeurs Out.

Indianapolis, Dec. 1.—The Teamsters' union voted unanimously to go on strike. The union, which includes the commercial chauffeurs, is one of the strongest in the city and has about 2,000 members.

A special dispensation for milk wagons driven by union teamsters was made at the meeting. Drivers of hearses also are exempt from the strike order.

The men were ordered not to report at their respective barns, but to picket the barns in a lawful manner.

Employers of teamsters, who are members of the National Vehicle Owners' Protective association, have practically decided to abandon all attempts to move their wagons. They say they will put their wagons in the barns and send their horses to the country and await developments.

Demands of the teamsters include a wage scale and changes of working conditions. The hours of labor range from eight to twelve hours a day. The union did not demand a "closed shop," but that there should be no discrimination against union men.

KEPT FIRE FROM GASOLINE

Milwaukee Men Successfully Head Off Danger.

Milwaukee, Dec. 1.—Sixty automobiles and the building of the Ford automobile distributing agency for Wisconsin were destroyed in a fire causing a damage of $125,000. The loss is nearly covered by insurance.

The fire was caused by an explosion of gasoline and the flames spread over the entire place before the firemen could extinguish them.

The firemen kept the flames from spreading, preventing an explosion.

SAY CLERK STOLE $76,000

$12-a-Week Employee Accused of Big Theft From Swift & Co.

New York, Dec. 1.—Mervyn Shaw, twenty-six years old, wanted in Toronto, Can., on a charge of appropriating $76,000 from the Toronto offices of Swift & Co., when in the employ of that company as a $12-a-week collector, was held without bail for arraignment before United States Commissioner J. A. Shields in extradition proceedings.

Shaw was arrested by detectives who were searching the house in which he lived for stolen jewelry.

DEMAND PRIVILEGE TO VOTE

Woman Suffrage Association Convention in Session.

Washington, Dec. 1.—A week's campaign by the National American Woman Suffrage association to procure the adoption of a constitutional amendment to enfranchise women was launched at a mass meeting.

It was the formal opening of the forty-fifth annual convention of the association. An assemblage which packed the theater listened for nearly three hours to discussions by conspicuous advocates of the movement. Suspended above the drop curtain was a huge yellow banner bearing the legend:

"We demand an amendment to the United States Constitution enfranchising women."

The association adopted almost unanimously resolutions introduced by Mrs. Helen Ring Robinson, a member of the state senate of Colorado, calling upon President Wilson in his forthcoming message to congress "to adopt the woman suffrage constitutional amendment as an administration measure and to urge congress to take immediate and favorable action upon it; urging the senate to pass the amendment, and asking the house to create a committee on woman suffrage."

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the association, presided, and in her opening address voiced the belief that "a deliverance—a speedy deliverance—of women is about to come through the action of the American congress and through the president of the United States."

General Villa Outlines Rebel Campaign Plans.

WILL JOIN AT GUADALAJARA

Insurgent Commander Says He Will Soon Be in Control of the States of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas and Will Then Join Forces With General Carranza.

Mexico City, Dec. 1.—Possible treatment of the Mexican question by President Wilson's coming message has aroused considerable interest among Mexican government officials. The continuation of the financial blockade President Huerta will not regard as a vital blow to his administration, however enfeebling it may be.

Juarez, Mex., Dec. 1.—Northern Mexico, embracing the states of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas, and including the territory from the border to a line 500 miles southward, will be under the authority of the rebel forces within two weeks.

The forces which are fighting Huerta will then join at Guadalajara with a view to marching on to Mexico City.

General Francisco Villa, the rebel leader, so announced.

This campaign, he said, contemplated not only the capture of Chihuahua city, but also the spreading of the rebel, or Constitutional, authority further south.

He is to be joined in the interior by General Carranza, the head of the revolutionary movement.

So far as the north is concerned, Villa said, the campaign is between 14,500 federal troops and 20,300 rebels.

SEEKING LOAN IN FRANCE

Former Mexican Cabinet Officer Negotiating Abroad.

Santander, Spain, Dec. 1.—Manuel Garza Aldape, who recently resigned the portfolio of minister of the interior in the Mexican cabinet, reached here.

The ex-minister gave it to be understood he would try to arrange a loan in France in behalf of the Huerta administration.

Senor Aldape asserted the economic situation in Mexico was not desperate. The political situation he considered grave.

KILLED ON HER HONEYMOON

Bridegroom Also Fatally Hurt When Train Hits Carriage.

Kokomo, Ind., Dec. 1.—Ed Grishaw, a farmer, and Mrs. Wilber Youngman of Champaign, Ill., were killed and Wilber Youngman, husband of the woman, was hurt fatally when the carriage in which they were riding was struck by a Lake Erie and Western passenger train near Fairfield. The curtains on the carriage prevented Grishaw, who was driving, from seeing the approaching train.

Mr. and Mrs. Youngman were on their honeymoon.

SENTENCED TO HANG DEC. 19

Murderer of Mrs. Rexroat Must Pay Extreme Penalty.

Aurora, Ill., Dec. 1.—Harry Spencer, murderer of Mrs. Mildred Allison-Rexroat, was sentenced to be hanged at Wheaton, the county seat, Dec. 19.

Spencer argued for a new trial himself and repudiated his confession of the murder, but his motion was overruled by Judge Slusser.

The insane manner with which he tried to impress the jury during the trial was absent. He spoke calmly and without gesture.

"TRUST BUSTER" TO RESIGN

Joseph Darling Will Quit Department of Justice.

New York, Dec. 1.—To enter commercial life in this city Joseph R. Darling has resigned as special agent of the department of justice at Washington to become effective about Jan. 1 next, it was announced here.

Mr. Darling has charge of the preparation of cases brought by the government against the "bathtub" harvester, moving picture, Pacific coast plumbers and other so called trusts.

BIG DEMAND FOR APPROPRIATIONS

Democrats to Find Economy Program a Difficult One.

ARMY AND NAVY WANT MORE

Mileage For Members of Congress Good Pin Money at Yuletide Season—Bryan Smiles Over Financial Situation the World Over, as Former Foes Admit That Maybe He Was Right.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Dec. 1.—[Special.]—How the economists will have to worry and struggle during the coming session when the appropriations are made! The demands for more money are greater than ever before, and the Democrats were elected on a platform pledged to economy. More than that, the Democrats in congress have been everlastingly hammering their opponents for a dozen years about their extravagance.

Now when the party of economy comes into power there seems to be no way of curbing the desire for spending the money in the treasury. "It is awful to get into power on a platform of economy," remarked one of the Democratic senators, "for when the time comes we can't make good on our promises."

$10,000,000 Increase For the Army.
Right off the reel there is an increase in the estimates of $10,000,000 for the army, and yet the secretary of war is not getting all he wants. Even with that he has pruned the estimates. Along comes Secretary Daniels with estimates for more money for the navy, coupled with a demand in congress for more battleships.

Passing to the side of peace, we notice that many men propose to spend millions for improving the roads of the country. A vocational educational bill or a measure to teach agriculture on a greatly enlarged scale seems certain to pass. There will be no letup in demand for public buildings and for river and harbor appropriations. In fact, all those measures which mean large expenditures seem certain to be passed. These will swell the general total above anything in the past.

Must Make Bryan Smile.

It must make Bryan smile when he sees papers which strenuously supported the gold standard and denounced the Nebraska candidate and his party on the free silver question, now saying that perhaps bimetalism is just what is necessary if the whole world would adopt it. Scarcity of basic money is said to be the cause of the financial difficulties the world over.

Bryan's smile might be broader if he had not tacitly consented to nailing down the gold standard by direct provision in the currency bill which passed the house and is now in the senate. But this talk of restoring silver to its place as a money metal is really interesting at this time when financial stress hovers over the world.

Good Pocket Money.

With Christmas only a short distance away that mileage for members of congress looks like good pocket money. Heretofore when members came to Washington for the first regular session of congress they had been at home for nine months enjoying themselves and spending as little money as possible. They had been drawing salaries all the time, just as if they had been in Washington. They came here in December and right off the bat their mileage was available, 20 cents a mile for the entire distance from their homes to the capital. It made good pin money with Christmas looking them in the face.

"Constitutional Privilege."

The newspaper men many times asked the president if congress was to adjourn, taking it for granted that the president controlled congress as to its vacations. One day he was asked if there would be a holiday adjournment after the regular session. "I suppose it would be unconstitutional not to have a holiday recess," replied the president, showing that he knew the custom, even if he was a little sarcastic in his reply. That will be the first congressional vacation.

Stone Was Sarcastic.

Senator Stone doesn't care much whom he jabs when he is nettled. The other day he referred to Senator Owen as the "nominal chairman" of the banking and currency committee. Then he called Senator Hitchcock "chairman of one wing of the committee." In a few lines he "got to" both Owen and Hitchcock. Stone, who is well up on the finance committee, no doubt thinks it would have been just as well to have allowed the money bills to remain with the finance committee, where they have always been, until the beginning of the present session.

A Strange Sight.

Senator Thomas of Colorado was reading his speech in the senate a few days ago, which caused surprise, as he is a ready talker.

"What alls Charlie Thomas?" asked one senator. "He is reading his speech."

"He was afraid to speak offhand," was the reply, "as he feared he would not get through in time to close the session of congress. Thomas is apt to run overtime in his remarks."

Asphalt.

The origin of the material taken from the various asphalt lakes is still a mystery.

LAWS IN EFFECT ON JAN. 1

Many New Minnesota Statutes Will Become Operative.

St. Paul, Dec. 1.—More than a dozen laws passed by the last legislature will go into effect New Year's day. Two of the most important measures are the Cashman distance tariff law and the tax classification law.

The tax classification law probably will affect a greater number of people directly than any other law passed at the last session. Although made effective Jan. 1 its practical working will not begin until the assessments are made next spring and its effect will not be felt until people begin paying their 1915 taxes a year from next January.

The new law taking effect on Jan. 1, 1914, are:

Cashman distance tariff law; locomotive headlight bill; uniform warehouse receipts law; joint freight rate law; fixing salary of Minneapolis mayor; sleeping car tax; tax classification act; regulation of mattresses; fixing salaries of Minneapolis aldermen; Bendixen 2-cent fare law; fixing salaries of town officers.

TEAMSTERS STRIKE AT INDIANAPOLIS

About Two Thousand Drivers and Chauffeurs Out.

Indianapolis, Dec. 1.—The Teamsters' union voted unanimously to go on strike. The union, which includes the commercial chauffeurs, is one of the strongest in the city and has about 2,000 members.

A special dispensation for milk wagons driven by union teamsters was made at the meeting. Drivers of hearse also are exempt from the strike order.

The men were ordered not to report at their respective barns, but to picket the barns in a lawful manner. Employers of teamsters, who are members of the National Vehicle Owners' Protective association, have practically decided to abandon all attempts to move their wagons. They say they will put their wagons in the barns and send their horses to the country and await developments.

Demands of the teamsters include a wage scale and changes of working conditions. The hours of labor range from eight to twelve hours a day. The union did not demand a "closed shop," but that there should be no discrimination against union men.

KEPT FIRE FROM GASOLINE

Milwaukee Men Successfully Head Off Danger.

Milwaukee, Dec. 1.—Sixty automobiles and the building of the Ford automobile distributing agency for Wisconsin were destroyed in a fire causing a damage of $125,000. The loss is nearly covered by insurance.

The fire was caused by an explosion of gasoline and the flames spread over the entire place before the firemen could extinguish them.

The firemen kept the flames from spreading, preventing an explosion.

SAY CLERK STOLE $76,000

$12-a-Week Employee Accused of Big Theft From Swift & Co.

New York, Dec. 1.—Mervyn Shaw, twenty-six years old, wanted in Toronto, Can., on a charge of appropriating $76,000 from the Toronto offices of Swift & Co., when in the employ of that company as a $12-a-week collector, was held without bail for arraignment before United States Commissioner J. A. Shields in extradition proceedings.

Shaw was arrested by detectives who were searching the house in which he lived for stolen jewelry.

DEMAND PRIVILEGE TO VOTE

Woman Suffrage Association Convention in Session.

Washington, Dec. 1.—A week's campaign by the National American Woman Suffrage association to procure the adoption of a constitutional amendment to enfranchise women was launched at a mass meeting.

It was the formal opening of the forty-fifth annual convention of the association.

An assemblage which packed the theater listened for nearly three hours to discussions by conspicuous advocates of the movement. Suspended above the drop curtain was a huge yellow banner bearing the legend:

"We demand an amendment to the United States Constitution enfranchising women."

The association adopted almost unanimously resolutions introduced by Mrs. Helen Ring Robinson, a member of the state senate of Colorado, calling upon President Wilson in his forthcoming message to congress "to adopt the woman suffrage constitutional amendment as an administrative measure and to urge congress to take immediate and favorable action upon it; urging the senate to pass the amendment, and asking the house to create a committee on woman suffrage."

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the association, presided, and in her opening address voiced the belief that "a deliverance—a speedy deliverance of women is about to come through the action of the American congress and through the president of the United States."

General Villa Outlines Rebel Campaign Plans.

WILL JOIN AT GUADALAJARA

Insurgent Commander Says He Will Soon Be in Control of the States of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas and Will Then Join Forces With General Carranza.

*****

Mexico City, Dec. 1.—Possible treatment of the Mexican question by President Wilson's coming message has aroused considerable interest among Mexican government officials. The continuation of the financial blockade President Huerta will not regard as a vital blow to his administration, however enfeebling it may be.

*****

Juarez, Mex., Dec. 1.—Northern Mexico, embracing the states of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas, and including the territory from the border to a line 500 miles southward, will be under the authority of the rebel forces within two weeks.

The forces which are fighting Huerta will then join at Guadalajara with a view to marching on to Mexico City.

General Francisco Villa, the rebel leader, so announced.

This campaign, he said, contemplated not only the capture of Chihuahua city, but also the spreading of the rebel, or Constitutionalist, authority further south.

He is to be joined in the interior by General Carranza, the head of the revolutionary movement.

So far as the north is concerned, Villa said, the campaign is between 14,500 federal troops and 20,000 rebels.

SEEKING LOAN IN FRANCE

Former Mexican Cabinet Officer Negotiating Abroad.

Santander, Spain, Dec. 1.—Manuel Garza Aldape, who recently resigned the portfolio of minister of the interior in the Mexican cabinet, reached here.

The ex-minister gave it to be understood he would try to arrange a loan in France in behalf of the Huerta administration.

Senor Aldape asserted the economic situation in Mexico was not desperate. The political situation he considered grave.

KILLED ON HER HONEYMOON

Bridegroom Also Fatally Hurt When Train Hits Carriage.

Kokomo, Ind., Dec. 1.—Ed Grishaw, a farmer, and Mrs. Wilber Youngman of Champlain, Ill., were killed and Wilber Youngman, husband of the woman, was hurt fatally when the carriage in which they were riding was struck by a Lake Erie and Western passenger train near Fairfield. The curtains on the carriage prevented Grishaw, who was driving, from seeing the approaching train.

Mr. and Mrs. Youngman were on their honeymoon.

SENTENCED TO HANG DEC. 19

Murderer of Mrs. Rexroat Must Pay Extreme Penalty.

Aurora, Ill., Dec. 1.—Harry Spencer, murderer of Mrs. Mildred Allison-Rexroat, was sentenced to be hanged at Wheaton, the county seat, Dec. 19. Spencer argued for a new trial himself and repudiated his confession of the murder, but his motion was overruled by Judge Slusser.

The insane manner with which he tried to impress the jury during the trial was absent. He spoke calmly and without gesture.

REVOLT OF NAVAJO ENDS

Renegades Surrender to Agency Superintendent.

Durango, Colo., Dec. 1.—The rebellion of the two-wife men of the Navajo tribe of the Shiprock (N.M.) agency, which took head in an armed encampment on Beautiful mountain two weeks ago, has ended. The eight renegades for whom warrants were issued by the district federal court charging bigamy, assault and larceny, surrendered to Superintendent Shelton of the Shiprock Indian agency at the Coaldean trading post. This was the result of a visit of General Hugh L. Scott to the camp of the renegades. The general talked with the band in their own language.

YOUTH FACES THE GALLows

W. Jasper Collins Sentenced to Death for Murder.

Calgary, Alta., Dec. 1.—W. Jasper Collins, eighteen years old, was convicted by a jury of the murder of J. P. Benson, a homesteader at Cereal, Alta., and sentenced to death. He was brought here from Kingston, Mo., where he had confessed that he murdered Benson for his money and burned the body in a shack.

More Bottles Sold Each Year

It is easy to understand why an increasing number of bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is sold yearly. Thos. WILD PIGS OF BRAZIL.

Fate of a Jaguar That Fell Into Their Merciless Clutches.

The wild pigs of Central and South America have a reputation for ferocity and indomitable pluck and are exceedingly dangerous enemies to meet. Mr. J. Bigg-Wither, in "Pioneering in South Brazil," tells this story of an explorer's experience of them. Elliott, the explorer, and a Brazilian companion named Lopez were camping in the forest between two Brazilian rivers. "Suddenly they heard, close at hand, a tremendous uproar of grunting and squealing. "Pigs!" exclaimed Elliott. "Roast pork for supper!"

"Come on!" was the only comment of Lopez, and he led the way in the bright moonlight toward a little open space among the pines.

"In a few minutes they came to the edge of the clearing, and there they saw, not one pig, but a drove of fifty or sixty, all furious with rage and vainly endeavoring to get at a jaguar that was sitting in fear and trembling on the top of an ant hill, about five feet above the ground.

"Don't fire," said Elliott. "Let's wait a minute. We haven't got too much ammunition, and we can't afford to waste any."

"The jaguar, with his tail well up in the air, out of reach of the foe, was tottering about on the top of the ant hill, with his four feet close together and turning first in one direction and then in another to meet successive attacks.

"Just then the jaguar let his tail drop. In a second the pigs had laid hold of the appendage and had pulled the beast into the midst of them. A terrible battle ensued. From time to time the massive yellow body of the jaguar would rise above the rolling herd of pigs, and his paws could be seen dealing out deadly blows on every side. Then he would sink again and be buried under the bodies of his raging foes. After awhile the noise began to subside.

"Where's the jaguar?" asked Elliott. "I can't see him anywhere."

"Nor I either," added Lopez.

"One by one the excited pigs moved off. When they had all departed the two men descended into the arena. There were fourteen pigs lying dead or dying on the ground, but there was no jaguar. Presently Lopez stooped down, picked up a fragment of something yellow and, holding it up, remarked:

"Here he is."

"He had found a bit of the jaguar's skin, almost the only fragment of his body left. He had been torn to pieces and devoured by his vicious foes, and nothing was left of him except a few scraps of skin and hair."

MUSIC AND DRAMA*"Where the Trail Divides"

"Where the Trail Divides" was presented at the Brainerd opera house by a very capable company. The play is a story of the broad, virile west where life's problems are looked at in broad-gauge light, where the air has no soot in it, where the solitude brings one close to God.

Robert Edson's drama is thrilling from its inception to its climax when How Lander, striking down the despoiler of his home, makes his plea and asks in a voice of anguish: "Have I done right?"

The play is in four acts with all the scenes laid in the western ranch country. Col. Bill Lander leaves all in his will to his daughter Elizabeth and urges her to marry her foster brother, the Indian, How Lander, whom he has befriended and educated.

Then follow the incidents, dramatic in the extreme, originating from the engagement and subsequent marriage of an Indian and a white girl. Clayton Craig, her cousin, objects to the match. The villagers hurl taunts at How. How and his bride go to live on the ranch and the solitude is almost unendurable to the young bride. Craig visits her and How, unexpectedly entering the cabin, finds her in the arms of her cousin.

The Indian releases her and here "Where the Trail Divides" he passes from her and permits her to marry his rival. Her new-found freedom is of little benefit, for Craig spends the ranch profits. At the end of eight months he casts her off and the nobleness of the Indian is revealed when he takes her back to his heart and home. It is just another evidence of the very unsatisfactory foundation of the platonic love which lives in words but fails when the service which true love gives without question is demanded.

Miss Elizabeth Gilmore was a winsome and lovable Elizabeth Lander and Edward Helms as the Indian personified all that was good and true in Indian nature. The rest of the cast was a strong one, well supporting the principals. Robert Jackson as Pete Sweeney, the bad man, makes an entry early in the play which is most startling and puts the real punch in the first act.

"Little Lost Sister"

Beaming with heartless throbs, wholesome pathos and lingering humor, "Little Lost Sister," a stirring play dramatized from the book which Virginia Brooks made almost as famous as herself, should be seen by every man, woman and child in the country. "Little Lost Sister" will play at the Brainerd opera house tomorrow evening, Tuesday, Dec. 2.

Inflated Theatrical Values.

The "show business" proper—namely, the business of securing and producing plays for the entertainment of the theater going public—is a business of false and inflated values," writes a prominent theatrical manager in the American Magazine. "Reputations, receipts, salaries, expenditures, costs of production, losses on failure and so on through the list—everything is inflated."

"The $100,000 production probably cost $20,000, out of which, in case of failure, there was a salvage of $10,000. The $50,000 production can easily be duplicated for $30,000, and many a dramatic production has been made for from $4,000 to $6,000 that in the published figures represented an outlay of $25,000 before the curtain rose."

A Cautious Young Woman.

Elizabeth had been strictly trained in the proprieties of receiving gifts of money. Uncle John arrived, a privileged character, and after the custom of uncles produced a quarter dollar. Likewise he offered to go to the candy man's shop across the way on a squandering expedition.

WILD PIGS OF BRAZIL

Fate of a Jaguar That Fell Into Their Merciless Clutches.

The wild pigs of Central and South America have a reputation for ferocity and indomitable pluck and are exceedingly dangerous enemies to meet. Mr. J. Bigg-Wither, in "Pioneering in South Brazil," tells this story of an explorer's experience of them. Elliott, the explorer, and a Brazilian companion named Lopez were camping in the forest between two Brazilian rivers.

"Suddenly they heard, close at hand, a tremendous uproar of grunting and squealing.

"Pigs!" exclaimed Elliott. "Roast pork for supper!"

"Come on!" was the only comment of Lopez, and he led the way in the bright moonlight toward a little open space among the pines.

"In a few minutes they came to the edge of the clearing, and there they saw, not one pig, but a drove of fifty or sixty, all furious with rage and vainly endeavoring to get at a jaguar that was sitting in fear and trembling on the top of an ant hill, about five feet above the ground.

"Don't fire," said Elliott. "Let's wait a minute. We haven't got too much ammunition, and we can't afford to waste any."

"The jaguar, with his tail well up in the air, out of reach of the foe, was tottering about on the top of the ant hill, with his four feet close together and turning first in one direction and then in another to meet successive attacks.

"Just then the jaguar let his tail drop. In a second the pigs had laid hold of the appendage and had pulled the beast into the midst of them. A terrible battle ensued. From time to time the massive yellow body of the jaguar would rise above the rolling herd of pigs, and his paws could be seen dealing out deadly blows on every side. Then he would sink again and be buried under the bodies of his raging foes. After awhile the noise began to subside.

"Where's the jaguar?" asked Elliott. "I can't see him anywhere."

"Nor I either," added Lopez.

"One by one the excited pigs moved off. When they had all departed the two men descended into the arena. There were fourteen pigs lying dead or dying on the ground, but there was no jaguar. Presently Lopez stooped down, picked up a fragment of something yellow and, holding it up, remarked:

"Here he is."

Defining the Disease.

"I've cared for several persons," she explained, "but I never have loved any one so that I would have been willing to give up my home and work for him if necessary. That is real love, isn't it?"

BRAINERD WANTS ANNUAL MEET

The Delegation from Brainerd will Ask for the Next Annual Meeting of the N. M. D. A.

IN DECEMBER OF NEXT YEAR

All Eyes are Turned Toward Bemidji where the 1913 Meeting Occurs December 4 and 5

The annual meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development Association will occur at Bemidji on Thursday and Friday of this week, Dec. 4 and 5, and the attendance will be larger than at any previous meeting. It is present indications are to be relied on. Some very important measures will be considered at this meeting and various questions discussed among which will be the holding up of the land grant by the government which has caused much feeling in certain quarters and in which Secretary MacKenzie has figured to some extent. There are two sides to this controversy and it is expected that the discussion which is bound to come over this matter will call a considerable number of people to Bemidji in addition to the number who would otherwise be present.

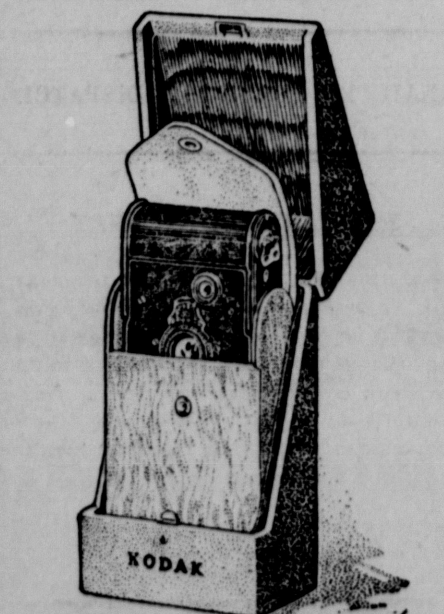

The election of officers for the coming year will take place at the Bemidji meeting at which time it is expected that C. A. Albright, of this city, will be made president. He is now vice president and in addition to the usual custom of promoting the vice president to the presidency a large number of the delegation from other counties have signified their desire to see him placed at the head of this organization on account of his interest in the association since its organization. The delegation from this county will go to the Bemidji meeting with this purpose in view.

In addition to the election of a Brainerd man as president the Crow Wing county delegation will interest themselves in bringing the next annual meeting of the association to Brainerd and will place the advantages of this city for entertaining the association in a manner becoming an organization of that magnitude and importance before the delegates and the executive committee. This meeting will be in December, 1914, and as the meeting will be just before the convening of the legislature it will attract a large number of people who are interested in the affairs of state as well as those who are earnestly interested in the association matters, in other words it will attract people from all parts of the state who are at all interested in public affairs as they will be able to see and interview the men who do things in a short time that would take them weeks to find if they traveled around the state to accomplish this purpose. Brainerd entertained the annual meeting four years ago and it attracted the largest gathering of public men ever entertained in this city. We are better prepared now to entertain an assembly of this kind than ever before, and as the city is centrally located, the running time of the trains make it easy of access from all directions, hotel accommodations are adequate and the spacious commercial club rooms make a place of entertainment that was not available at the last meeting, the claim cannot help but be recognized.

Brainerd wants the 1914 annual meeting and as large a delegation of public spirited men as can be gotten together should attend the Bemidji meeting on Thursday and Friday of this week and assist in boosting the

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Minutes of Special Meeting of County Board in Conjunction With Court House Committee

Pursuant to call of chairman, the board met in the grand jury room at the court house at 2 o'clock p. m., Nov. 21st, to confer with a citizens' committee in regard to a new jail and court house.

All members of the board were present, also the county auditor. Of the committee, the following were in attendance: R. R. Wise, Edward Crust, K. J. Nesheim, W. A. Curo, H. J. Hage, Erick Kronberg and C. A. Erickson.

Minutes of meeting of Sept. 13th were read and on motion approved. Letters were read from the International Molders' Union, No. 226, of Brainerd, and from the Trades and Labor Assembly of Brainerd, protesting against the erection of a new court house at present; also a petition signed by 48 residents and tax-payers asking that the question of a new court house be placed properly before the voters, rather than considering the repair of the old one.

The sub-committee submitted a written report signed by R. R. Wise and H. J. Hage, and concurred in by W. A. Curo, recommending that a combined city and county jail be erected without delay on the most available site on the present county grounds (provided an entirely new location is not decided upon by the board.) And in view of the present large indebtedness it was recommended that until the assessed valuation reaches about ten million dollars, which should be within three years, work on enlarging the court house should be deferred until that time.

Mr. Wise further stated that in order to sound public opinion in the matter he had addressed letters to the town officers and other prominent citizens throughout the county and out of a total of 319 replies received, 23 favored the building of a court house forthwith, while 295 were opposed to that proposition. The auditor read letters from several other county auditors in the state relative to the cost and arrangement of county buildings, and from the state auditor in regard to a loan.

Mr. Crust still maintained that the best interests of the county at large demanded that plans be set on foot now towards the erection of a new modern building with proper equipment on a more suitable site.

Several architects were present and submitted plans and sketches for a jail to accommodate from 30 to 35 inmates, and to cost from $32,000 to $43,000.

Vernon J. Price, of Duluth, stated that in case he was awarded the job his fees would be five per cent of the contract price, this being his usual figure in such cases.

Mr. Parsons of St. Paul, who has the work of erecting the Little Falls high school, appeared before the board and asked for time to prepare plans for the proposed work.

A motion was made and duly carried to defer action on building the jail until Tuesday, Dec. 2nd, 1913, at 2 o'clock p. m.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES WORK

Meeting for its Organization Called at Gardner Hall by Alderman J. R. Smith

TO MEET TUESDAY EVENING, 7:45

City Council, Booster Club, Bachelor Maids, Childrens' Hour and Others Favor Plan

A meeting for the organization of an Associated Charities organization of Brainerd has been called for Tuesday evening, December 2, at 7:45 sharp in the Gardner auditorium by Alderman James R. Smith.

The council chambers were first suggested as a meeting place, but as many ladies expect to be present it was thought better to secure the Gardner auditorium, George H. Gardner renting the hall for the bare cost of light and heat.

The meeting has been called for 7:45 because of other attractions in the city and an early start will enable people to attend the charities meeting and later other gatherings in the city.

To date members of the city council, Booster club, the Bachelor Maids, Childrens' Hour and others have expressed themselves in favor of the organization of an Associated Charities. It will tend to systematize the work of poor relief and it has been successfully carried out in Duluth, Superior, St. Paul, Minneapolis and other cities.

All who are interested in this phase of municipal work are asked to be present. The more churches, clubs, organizations and individuals will take part in the work, the more successful it will be.

GRASP YOUR OPPORTUNITIES

Crow Wing county, on account of its known large quantities of both high grade and low grade iron ore and its rich agricultural farm lands, is now or will be soon one of the richest counties in the State of Minnesota, and it is within the power of Brainerd its county seat, on account of those facts, if it grasps its opportunities, to become one of the important cities of the state.

The opportunity for Brainerd to become a city of some importance is at hand and a movement towards that end should be started at once, and that movement can best be started by the county and city themselves.

Crow Wing county and Brainerd both have had plenty of advertisement all over the country and people are now coming here looking for opportunities for investment. They come here, look around and see nothing particularly going on in the city and go away again. Why not the city, as the mayor suggests, start the proceeding for the building of a new city hall and that itself will be an attractive advertisement, and besides it is something very badly needed here.

The city is now renting quarters for the city clerk, municipal court room, council chambers and separate quarters for the water and light department, and is also maintaining an old shack which is a disgrace to the city for a fire hall and paying for same a large sum of money per year. What economy! And then again there is that thirty year old court house which is wholly unsuited for the needs of this county. Almost the poorest county court house in the entire 15th judicial district, in a county which is unquestionably the richest.

The county commissioners are about to erect a new county jail. It should be done. But for the best interests and upbuilding of Brainerd do not locate it over on the present county grounds. Put it over on the south side of the railroad tracks having in mind the future location of a new court house on the same grounds. Do not make a mistake and put the new jail over on the present location. It was a mistake in the first place to locate the court house and jail over on the present location. Now, that we need a new court and jail let us not make the same mistake.

I would like to refer the county and city authorities to an article in the July 1913 number of Harper's Magazine relative to the "Rebuilding of Cities."

You will say: "What will we do with the present court house?" It is a valuable piece of property and no doubt some use can be made of it and perhaps in time it will be worth the present court house indebtedness of $40,000. What is the use of us making a botch of this public building proposition simply because there is an indebtedness of $40,000 against the present court house property. That amount does not amount to anything to this county which owns a poor farm rich in iron ore. Without a doubt the county's valuation will be up to $15,000,000 in three years. Let us build a new county jail on a new location where afterwards let us build a fine new court house and help advertise our county. As I said before, the opportunity for Brainerd to become a city is now and the city and county can start the ball a rolling by starting needed public improvements and then you will see the investors and enterprises coming to our city and locating.

INJUNCTION DISSOLVED

Temporary Injunction of Iron Range Townsite Co. vs N. P. Ry. Co. Heard in District Court

RAILWAY DENIES AGREEMENT

Other Northern Pacific Railway Company Cases Promptly Settled Before Trial

The temporary injunction secured by the Iron Range Townsite Co. restraining the Northern Pacific railway company from building a depot 1,500 feet northeast of the temporary depot at Barrows, was heard in district court Saturday morning and the injunction was denied, the company filing an answer denying that any agreement had been made with the townsite company as to the location of the depot. Accordingly the railway company is free to proceed with its construction work.

Other Northern Pacific railway cases were quickly disposed of. The case of Chase vs the N. P. Ry. Co. was settled before trial as was also Richard Peterson vs the N. P. railway company.

In the Howell case vs the Cuyuna Northern railway company, an action to reject the railway off his lands, there was entered judgment for the defendant on the pleadings. D. F. Lyons, of St. Paul, and M. E. Ryan, of Brainerd, were attorneys for the railway.

A GREAT MEETING

Hon. A. C. Rankin Addresses a Large Gathering at the Presbyterian Church Last Night

The meeting last evening in the Presbyterian church, addressed by Hon. A. C. Rankin, was a rousing temperance rally of the kind that was in vogue in the days of our fathers. The unanimous verdict is that it was a great meeting. The church was crowded to its capacity and the people were held in alternate laughter and tears by the lecturer.

The address was based on the statement of St. Paul "the powers that be are ordained of God," and was a Bible reading and the interpretation. The lecturer told of his father, a man who had accumulated a fortune as a drover, then wasted it through drinking. He then went to California with the "forty-niners," there gained another fortune which went the same way. Today he rests in a nameless grave in Colorado—the end of the drunkard.

The young son was forsworn, like Hannibal of old, to eternal enmity against the liquor business. For twenty-seven years he has been fulfilling his vow and with mighty effect.

Tonight he will speak at the Norwegian Lutheran church on 7th St. at 7:30 o'clock. His subject will be "The Use and Abuse of Liquor." At the close of the meeting last evening about one hundred came forward and signed a pledge.

The meeting was in charge of Rev. W. J. Lowrie assisted by Rev. G. P. Sheridan and Rev. R. E. Cody. The service this evening will be in charge of Rev. M. L. Hostager.

Chinese Idols. The Chinese, according to a missionary, are the most exacting of worshippers. When they pray to their idols they ask for definite material blessings and they expect results. The life of an idol in China is precarious. Gifts will be heaped before it only as long as it seems to be bringing about the wishes of its followers. If the shrine falls upon evil times and disappoints its worshippers their homage soon fades. Not only do the gifts cease, but the respectful people of the countryside will come in a body and smash the inefficient symbol.

Modest. "Jibway seems to be an unusually modest man."

"Indeed he is. Why, Jibway can climb down from a Pullman car while his train hesitates at a little country station and walk up and down the station platform without looking as if he owned the railroad."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

OLD FOLKS FIND NEW REMEDY RELIEVES ALL KIDNEY MISERIES

Drives Rheumatic Pains Away, Relieves Backache and Bladder Disorders After a Few Doses are Taken

Sleep disturbing bladder weaknesses, backache, rheumatism, and the many other kindred ailments which so commonly come with declining years, need no longer be a source of dread and misery to those who are past the middle age of life.

The new discovery, Hindipo, relieves all such disorders because it removes the very cause of the trouble. It soaks right into the kidneys, through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering glands and cells, and gives the kidneys new strength to do their work properly.

It neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid substances that lodge in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; and makes the kidneys filter and sift out all the poisonous waste matter from the blood and drive it out of the system.

It matters not how old you are or how long you have suffered, Hindipo is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work immediately and more than a few doses are seldom required to relieve even the most chronic, obstinate case.

BRAINERD WANTS ANNUAL MEET

The Delegation from Brainerd will Ask for the Next Annual Meeting of the N. M. D. A.

IN DECEMBER OF NEXT YEAR

All Eyes are Turned Toward Bemidji where the 1913 Meeting Occurs December 4 and 5

The annual meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development Association will occur at Bemidji on Thursday and Friday of this week, Dec. 4 and 5, and the attendance will be larger than at any previous meeting if present indications are to be relied on. Some very important measures will be considered at this meeting and various questions discussed among which will be the holding up of the land grant by the government which has caused much feeling in certain quarters and in which Secretary MacKenzie has figured to some extent. There are two sides to this controversy and it is expected that the discussion which is bound to come over this matter will call a considerable number of people to Bemidji in addition to the number who would otherwise be present.

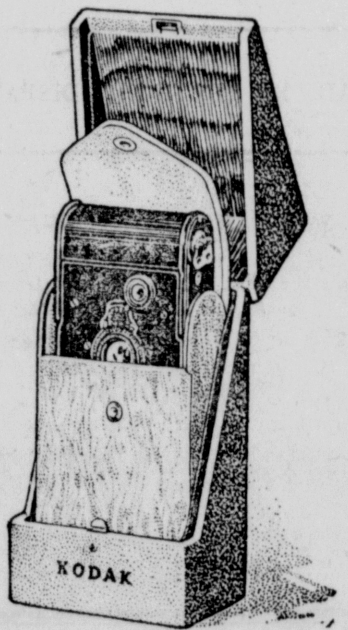

The election of officers for the coming year will take place at the Bemidji meeting at which time it is expected that C. A. Albright, of this city, will be made president. He is now vice president and in addition to the usual custom of promoting the vice president to the presidency a large number of the delegation from other counties have signified their desire to see him placed at the head of this organization on account of his interest in the association since its organization. The delegation from this county will go to the Bemidji meeting with this purpose in view.

In addition to the election of a Brainerd man as president the Crow Wing county delegation will interest themselves in bringing the next annual meeting of the association to Brainerd and will place the advantages of this city for entertaining the association in a manner becoming an organization of that magnitude and importance before the delegates and the executive committee. This meeting will be in December, 1914, and as the meeting will be just before the convening of the legislature it will attract a large number of people who are interested in the affairs of state as well as those who are earnestly interested in the association matters, in other words it will attract people from all parts of the state who are at all interested in public affairs as they will be able to see and interview the men who do things in a short time that would take them weeks to find if they traveled around the state to accomplish this purpose. Brainerd entertained the annual meeting four years ago and it attracted the largest gathering of public men ever entertained in this city. We are better prepared now to entertain an assembly of this kind than ever before, and as the city is centrally located, the running time of the trains make it easy of access from all directions, hotel accommodations are adequate and the spacious commercial club rooms make a place of entertainment that was not available at the last meeting, the claim cannot help but be recognized.

Brainerd wants the 1914 annual meeting and as large a delegation of public spirited men as can be gotten together should attend the Bemidji meeting on Thursday and Friday of this week and assist in boosting the

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Minutes of Special Meeting of County Board in Conjunction With Court House Committee

Pursuant to call of chairman, the board met in the grand jury room at the court house at 2 o'clock p. m., Nov. 21st, to confer with a citizens' committee in regard to a new jail and court house.

All members of the board were present, also the county auditor.

Of the committee, the following were in attendance: R. R. Wise, Edward Crust, K. J. Nesheim, W. A. Curo, H. J. Hage, Erick Kronberg and C. A. Erickson.

Minutes of meeting of Sept. 13th were read and on motion approved. Letters were read from the International Molders' Union, No. 226, of Brainerd, and from the Trades and Labor Assembly of Brainerd, protesting against the erection of a new court house at present; also a petition signed by 48 residents and tax-payers asking that the question of a new court house be placed properly before the voters, rather than considering the repair of the old one.

The sub-committee submitted a written report signed by R. R. Wise and H. J. Hage, and concurred in by W. A. Curo, recommending that a combined city and county jail be erected without delay on the most available site on the present county grounds (provided an entirely new location is not decided upon by the board.) And in view of the present large indebtedness it was recommended that until the assessed valuation reaches about ten million dollars, which should be within three years, work on enlarging the court house should be deferred until that time.

Mr. Wise further stated that in order to sound public opinion in the matter he had addressed letters to the town officers and other prominent citizens throughout the county and out of a total of 319 replies received, 23 favored the building of a court house forthwith, while 295 were opposed to that proposition.

The auditor read letters from several other county auditors in the state relative to the cost and arrangement of county buildings, and from the state auditor in regard to a loan.

Mr. Crust still maintained that the best interests of the county at large demanded that plans be set on foot now towards the erection of a new modern building with proper equipment on a more suitable site.

Several architects were present and submitted plans and sketches for a jail to accommodate from 30 to 35 inmates, and to cost from $32,000 to $42,000.

Vernon J. Price, of Duluth, stated that in case he was awarded the job his fees would be five per cent of the contract price, this being his usual figure in such cases.

Mr. Parsons of St. Paul, who has the work of erecting the Little Falls high school, appeared before the board and asked for time to prepare plans for the proposed work.

A motion was made and duly carried to defer action on building the jail until Tuesday, Dec. 2nd, 1913, at 2 o'clock p. m.

On motion, meeting adjourned.

RAILWAY DENIES AGREEMENT

Other Northern Pacific Railway Company Cases Promptly Settled Before Trial

The temporary injunction secured by the Iron Range Townsite Co. restraining the Northern Pacific railway company from building a depot 1,500 feet northeast of the temporary depot at Barrows, was heard in district court Saturday morning and the injunction was denied, the company filing an answer denying that any agreement had been made with the townsite company as to the location of the depot. Accordingly the railway company is free to proceed with its construction work.

Other Northern Pacific railway cases were quickly disposed of. The case of Chase vs the N. P. Ry. Co. was settled before trial as was also Richard Peterson vs the N. P. railway company.

In the Howell case vs the Cuyuna Northern railway company, an action to reject the railway off his lands, there was entered judgment for the defendant on the pleadings. D. F. Lyons, of St. Paul, and M. E. Ryan, of Brainerd, were attorneys for the railway.

A GREAT MEETING

Hon. A. C. Rankin Addresses a Large Gathering at the Presbyterian Church Last Night

The meeting last evening in the Presbyterian church, addressed by Hon. A. C. Rankin, was a rousing temperance rally of the kind that was in vogue in the days of our fathers. The unanimous verdict is that it was a great meeting. The church was crowded to its capacity and the people were held in alternate laughter and tears by the lecturer.

The address was based on the statement of St. Paul "the powers that be are ordained of God," and was a Bible reading and the interpretation. The lecturer told of his father, a man who had accumulated a fortune as a drover, then wasted it through drink. He then went to California with the "forty-niners," there gained another fortune which went the same way. Today he rests in a nameless grave in Colorado—the end of the drunkard.

The young son was forsworn, like Hannibal of old, to eternal enmity against the liquor business. For twenty-seven years he has been fulfilling his vow and with mighty effect.

Tonight he will speak at the Norwegian Lutheran church on 7th St., at 7:30 o'clock. His subject will be "The Use and Abuse of Liquor." At the close of the meeting last evening about one hundred came forward and signed a pledge.

The meeting was in charge of Rev. W. J. Lowrie assisted by Rev. G. P. Sheridan and Rev. R. E. Cody. The service this evening will be in charge of Rev. M. L. Hostager.

Chinese Idols.

The Chinese, according to a missionary, are the most exacting of worshippers. When they pray to their idols they ask for definite material blessings and they expect results. The life of an idol in China is precarious. Gifts will be heaped before it only as long as it seems to be bringing about the wishes of its followers. If the shrine falls upon evil times and disappoints its worshippers their homage soon fades. Not only do the gifts cease, but the resentful people of the countryside will come in a body and smash the inefficient symbol.

OLD FOLKS FIND NEW REMEDY RELIEVES ALL KIDNEY MISERIES

Sleep disturbing bladder weaknesses, backache, rheumatism, and the many other kindred ailments which so commonly come with declining years, need no longer be a source of dread and misery to those who are past the middle age of life.

The new discovery, Hindipo, relieves all such disorders because it removes the very cause of the trouble. It soaks right into the kidneys, through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering glands and cells, and gives the kidneys new strength to do their work properly.

It neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid substances that lodge in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; and makes the kidneys filter and sift out all the poisonous waste matter from the blood and drive it out of the system.

It matters not how old you are or how long you have suffered, Hindipo is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work immediately and more than a few doses are seldom required to relieve even the most chronic, obstinate case.

N. P. RY. BUILDING DEPOT AT IRONTON

Structure will be Ready this Week—Northern Pacific Ry. Doing Much Business

1st NATIONAL BANK DOING WELL

Attorney D. B. McAlpine has a Large Number of Cases in the District Court

Ironton, Minn., Nov. 26.—The First National bank, under the direction of Cashier Proctor, is meeting with great success and already has a large list of depositors. Mr. Proctor was formerly with the First National of Duluth.

The Cosgrove Mercantile Co. is putting in a large stock of merchandise.

The Dandre building will be occupied by Duluth young men who will put in a stock of clothing.

The Northern Pacific railway depot is nearly ready for use and will be occupied this week. The traffic has so increased as to render this first depot too small. Many business men formerly of Brainerd or old patrons of the Northern Pacific located at Ironton and Crosby are giving the railway much business. Freight and express are drayed from Ironton to Crosby.

Mr. and Mrs. Primus D. Kreitter are located in their new home on Serpent lake, occupying a beautiful bungalow. One of the charming features of their home is the large fire place.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hill are now settled in their new home on Serpent lake adjoining the bungalow of Primus D. Kreitter. The winters are so fine in Minnesota that Mr. and Mrs. Hill may forego their usual visit in the south and remain in Minnesota. Texas winters could not compare with the present winter in Minnesota.

Peter Spina will erect a cold storage warehouse in Ironton.

John H. Hill, in an interview, said he believed that the Northern Pacific railway would ultimately build a line from Crosby to Riverton to Brainerd and that there would be three lines, one on the north range, one the present line, and one on the south range of the Cuyuna.

Attorney D. B. McAlpine has a large number of cases in the district court at Brainerd.

The young Mattson boy who was injured by contact with electric lines near Ironton, started suit against the Cuyuna Range Power Co. and the case is now being heard in district court.

CHEMICAL EXACTNESS.

Bunsen's Feat After His Goblet of Solution Had Been Upset.

The remarkable skill in dealing with the material of their experiments that some chemists have is well illustrated by the following story told of the great German chemist Professor Robert Bunsen:

Professor Bunsen evaporated fifty hogheads of water from the Dürkheim spring and carefully isolated from the residue a small quantity of the salts of two very rare elements, caesium and rubidium. He dissolved these salts in a small beaker of water and set them aside on his laboratory table.

One day a friend came to see Professor Bunsen. Unnoticed by the chemist his visitor in leaning against the laboratory table tipped over the beaker and spilled its contents on the floor and on his clothing. The solution looked like plain water, so the man thought nothing of the accident and a few minutes later took his departure.

Shortly after the gentleman had gone Bunsen noticed that the contents of the beaker had been spilled. Instantly he ran out to the street, overtook his friend and brought him back to the laboratory.

With water Bunsen carefully extracted the salts from the sleeve of the gentleman's coat and his underclothing, washed his arm, cleaned off a drop that had splattered on his shoe, carefully washed the floor and the table, collected all the solutions together, purified them and on evaporation found that he had recovered the valuable salts! So perfect was his skill that he had not lost a weighable amount.—Youth's Companion.

OUR GLOBE'S HEAT

In Time, Science Figures, It Will Melt the Planet.

THE PART RADIUM MAY PLAY.

This Mysterious Element, According to Some Theorists, Is Apt to Be the Potent Factor in Bringing Our World to Its Prophesied Fiery End.

No man expects to see the end of the world arrive in his day any more than he expects if he is in good health to die tomorrow. Yet there is a widespread and perhaps universal belief that the earth is no more immortal than man, only its term of existence is almost infinitely long compared with his.

Science gives unquestionable support to this view, and every new discovery seems to make more certain the conclusion that our world cannot last forever.

But there are two opposite theories as to the manner in which the earth as the abode of life will come to an end. One assumes that its destruction will be by heat and the other that it will be by cold. The discovery of the mysterious substance radium, which possesses the property of continually giving off heat, has imparted renewed impetus to the first of these theories, which, it may be remarked, as a matter of curiosity, is in accord with the Bible prophecies.

"The heavens shall roll up as a scroll, and the earth shall dissolve with fervent heat."

A most ominous account of the part that radium may play in the ultimate destruction of the earth is given in a book by Professor J. Joly, entitled "Radioactivity and Geology."

The argument on which the assumption that radium or its "mother element," uranium, may finally bring the world to a fiery end is based on the fact that a particle of radium keeps itself continually by some inner process at a temperature nearly 3 degrees above that of its surroundings. In an hour the radium emits enough heat to raise its own weight of water from the freezing to the boiling point. And this store of heat is so vast that a single atom of radium will continue to give it forth at an unvarying rate for about 2,500 years!

If there were only a certain quantity of radium in the earth which could not be renewed, then we might assume that at the end of two or three thousand years this source of heat would be exhausted.

But radium itself appears to be continually produced from uranium, which is an incomparably more abundant substance. So we conclude that the earth may have been heated internally by renewed supplies of radium for untold millions of years and will continue to be thus heated for millions of years to come.

Now, following a line of reasoning which would be too long to enter upon here, Professor Joly shows that if at the present time the nucleus of the earth contains as much as one five-hundred-thousand-millionth of a gram of radium for every gram of ordinary matter then its temperature must be rising at such a rate that in about 100,000,000 years the earth will be entirely melted inside.

We do not know whether there is so much radium as that inside the earth, but from what we observe on its surface we conclude that there very well may be. If there is more then the melting will be accomplished sooner. If there is less it will take longer. But the quantity would have to be very much less than it probably is in order that the heat produced could continue to be radiated away without a disastrous rise in the temperature of the globe.

The same reasoning carried further leads to the conclusion that the earth may have been alternately melted and cooled off several times in the past. When it is in a molten state the free radiation from the surface produces a crust, which thickens to a certain point, and then the inner accumulation of heat brings about another melting from the interior outward.

The phenomenon of new stars is appealing to as lending support to this view. Again and again astronomers have seen a new star burst forth at some point in the sky. Generally it has been assumed that they are due to collisions in the heavens, but it is perhaps equally probable that they arise from the accumulation of heat in some dark celestial body, causing it to flame out into incandescence. Other stars are known to have disappeared, and their disappearance may have been caused by the cooling off of their surfaces.

Evidently we are only just beginning to understand the meaning of life and death in the universe. But we may be sure that what happens elsewhere happens here and that if the stars are not eternal the earth is no more so.—Garrett P. Serviss in New York Journal.

Clerical Humor.

When the Rev. Dr. Snow rose to address his evening congregation his voice was slightly husky.

"My friends," he said, "I have already preached one sermon and made two long speeches to societies in different parts of the city, and before I have finished this evening you will think I am like a wheel—the longer the spoke, the bigger the tire."

Only a few appeared to see the point, however, and the good doctor scorned to furnish a diagram.—Chicago Tribune.

Ready to Die With His Boots On.

On the most trying occasions the coolness of the Duke of Wellington was perfect. The instance given by Colonel Gurwood is quoted in Life.

The duke was once in great danger of being drowned at sea. It was bedtime when the captain of the vessel came to him and said:

"It will soon be all over with us." "Very well," answered Wellington, "then I shall not take off my boots."

Like the bee, we should make our industry our amusement.—Oliver Goldsmith.

SHE HAD A NIMBLE TONGUE.

The Old Duchess Could and Did Swear Like a Trooper.

The old Duchess of St. Albans, who had been the widow of Mr. Coutts, the banker, when the duke, much her junior in age, married her, was one of the habitual visitors at Talmouth. My first view of her, however, was at the Cliffe hotel, on her way through to Kenmore, when the duchess and her retinue arrived in eight carriages; for though by birth of no family, she had a most exalted idea of her own importance and when paying a series of short visits to country houses was so convinced of the savage condition of the highlands that she traveled always with her own chef and patissier, who alone were permitted to cook her meals at the inns she stopped at on the road.

I shall not easily forget the sight of the disgorging of the duchess' own chariot when it pulled up at the inn door! First emerged her grace herself, an enormously fat woman; then followed her three nieces, daughters of Sir Francis Burdett, whereof the youngest and best looking became inheritor of her wealth, and Baroness Burdett-Coutts.

These young ladies, evidently in mortal terror of their awful relative—not without reason—followed the duchess in single file, dutifully carrying each some article necessary to her grace's comfort—reticule, cushion, wraps, books, footstool and bag of toilet requisites, the duchess' favorite lap dog and her pet parrot in a cage. After them came her grace's private physician, who traveled always in the same carriage as herself, so as to be on the spot, while the duke preferred the coach box to the company inside—and no wonder!

All the time the duchess' tongue was heard going—scolding, complaining, abusing everybody, from her husband downward, in unmeasured terms. The unfortunate nieces came in for no small share of her harangue and earned painfully any share of her fortune she may have left them in her will, for she swore like a trooper or a Billingsgate fishwife the whole time.—Lady Login in Cornhill Magazine.

Mercenary Love.

Two little cousins had quarreled, and the mother of one of them tried to make peace.

"Amy," she said, "why did you tell Bobbie you wouldn't be his little sweetheart?"

"Cos he didn't ask me," replied Amy indignantly, "till he knowed I had a new sixpence!"—London Telegraph.

But radium itself appears to be continually produced from uranium, which is an incomparably more abundant substance. So we conclude that the earth may have been heated internally by renewed supplies of radium for untold millions of years and will continue to be thus heated for millions of years to come.

Now, following a line of reasoning which would be too long to enter upon here, Professor Joly shows that if at the present time the nucleus of the earth contains as much as one five-hundred-thousand-millionth of a gram of radium for every gram of ordinary matter then its temperature must be rising at such a rate that in about 100,000,000 years the earth will be entirely melted inside.

We do not know whether there is so much radium as that inside the earth, but from what we observe on its surface we conclude that there very well may be. If there is more then the melting will be accomplished sooner. If there is less it will take longer. But the quantity would have to be very much less than it probably is in order that the heat produced could continue to be radiated away without a disastrous rise in the temperature of the globe.

The same reasoning carried further leads to the conclusion that the earth may have been alternately melted and cooled off several times in the past. When it is in a molten state the free radiation from the surface produces a crust, which thickens to a certain point, and then the inner accumulation of heat brings about another melting from the interior outward.

The phenomenon of new stars is appealing to as lending support to this view. Again and again astronomers have seen a new star burst forth at some point in the sky. Generally it has been assumed that they are due to collisions in the heavens, but it is perhaps equally probable that they arise from the accumulation of heat in some dark celestial body, causing it to flame out into incandescence. Other stars are known to have disappeared, and their disappearance may have been caused by the cooling off of their surfaces.

Evidently we are only just beginning to understand the meaning of life and death in the universe. But we may be sure that what happens elsewhere happens here and that if the stars are not eternal the earth is no more so.—Garrett P. Serviss in New York Journal.

Clerical Humor.

When the Rev. Dr. Snow rose to address his evening congregation his voice was slightly husky.

"My friends," he said, "I have already preached one sermon and made two long speeches to societies in different parts of the city, and before I have finished this evening you will think I am like a wheel—the longer the spoke, the bigger the tire."

Only a few appeared to see the point, however, and the good doctor scorned to furnish a diagram.—Chicago Tribune.

Ready to Die With His Boots On.

On the most trying occasions the coolness of the Duke of Wellington was perfect. The instance given by Colonel Gurwood is quoted in Life.

The duke was once in great danger of being drowned at sea. It was bedtime when the captain of the vessel came to him and said:

"It will soon be all over with us."

"Very well," answered Wellington, "then I shall not take off my boots."

Like the bee, we should make our industry our amusement.—Oliver Goldsmith.

SHE HAD A NIMBLE TONGUE.

The Old Duchess Could and Did Swear Like a Trooper.

The old Duchess of St. Albans, who had been the widow of Mr. Countess, the banker, when the duke, much her junior in age, married her, was one of the habitual visitors at Talmouth. My first view of her, however, was at the Crief hotel, on her way through to Kenmore, when the duchess and her retinue arrived in eight carriages; for though by birth of no family, she had a most exalted idea of her own importance and when paying a series of short visits to country houses was so convinced of the savage condition of the highlands that she traveled always with her own chef and patissier, who alone were permitted to cook her meals at the inns she stopped at on the road.

I shall not easily forget the sight of the disgorging of the duchess' own chariot when it pulled up at the inn door! First emerged her grace herself, an enormously fat woman; then followed her three nieces, daughters of Sir Francis Burdett, whereof the youngest and best looking became inheritor of her wealth, and Baroness Burdett-Countess.

These young ladies, evidently in mortal terror of their awful relative—without reason—followed the duchess in single file, dutifully carrying each some article necessary to her grace's comfort—reticule, cushion, wraps, books, footstool and bag of toilet requisites, the duchess' favorite lap dog and her pet parrot in a cage. After them came her grace's private physician, who traveled always in the same carriage as herself, so as to be on the spot, while the duke preferred the coach box to the company inside—and no wonder!

All the time the duchess' tongue was heard going—scolding, complaining, abusing everybody, from her husband downward, in unmeasured terms. The unfortunate nieces came in for no small share of her harangue and earned painfully any share of her fortune she may have left them in her will, for she swore like a trooper or a Billingsgate fishwife the whole time.—Lady Login in Cornhill Magazine.

Mercenary Love.

Two little cousins had quarreled, and the mother of one of them tried to make peace.

"Amy," she said, "why did you tell Bobbie you wouldn't be his little sweetheart?"

"Cos he didn't ask me," replied Amy indignantly, "till he knewed I had a new sixpence!"—London Telegraph.

$100 REWARD. $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
